

Curraghinalt Mine Supporting our community

The Tyrone Fund

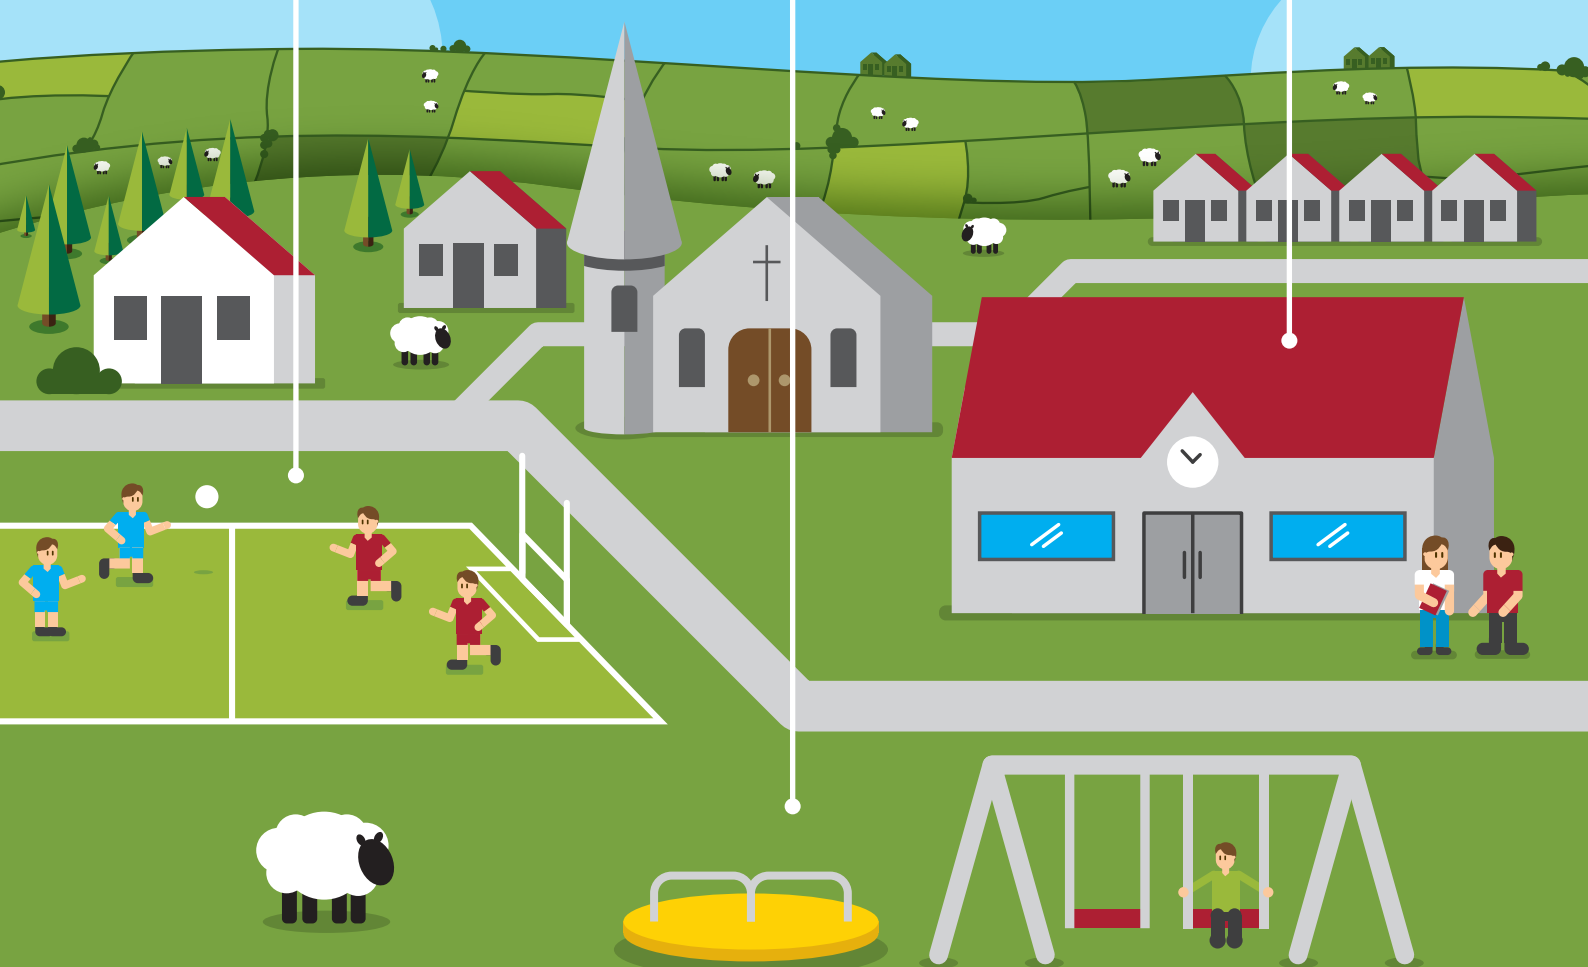

A dedicated fund to support community projects, with contributions set to increase with revenues.

£220,000

Allocated to community projects in education, health, sport, arts and the environment since 2009.

South West College

Working with SWC to educate and train local people for skilled jobs. Our mining contractor will be training locals in collaboration with the College.

400+ jobs

Directly created by the project, at least 200 during the construction phase and at least 200 once the mine is open. Indirect jobs may amount to around 3x that many. We always look to develop staff and promote internally.

Keeping it local

Currently, 61% of our employees come from County Tyrone and 93% live in the County. Many of our suppliers are also local to the project.

Extensive EIA

Environmental Impact Assessment progressing as it is being compiled with the aid of experts from around the world.

Consultation

Ongoing community consultation since 2010. Over 500 stakeholders consulted between January and June 2016.
